How does "Miracles" work?

We research projects in Guatemala and select those that achieve long-term results, improving the lives of extremely impoverished people – those living on less than $1.25/day. More than half of all Guatemalans live in poverty; 1 in 6 live in extreme poverty. Our humanitarian work includes building schools, workshops, libraries, water systems and other development projects to break the cycle of poverty. We teach a family to fish. We don't just give them the fish.

100% of your donations go directly to our projects.

Operating expenses are funded by separate directed donations from angel sponsors and the sale of handicrafts produced in Guatemala's cottage industry. Additionally, the sale of handicrafts provides Mayan women an opportunity to earn an income from their home while caring for their children.

How did "Miracles" start?

Since 1999, Noreen Rambacher and her daughter, Penny, led missions to Guatemala delivering aid to poor families living at the city garbage dump, and those living in remote Mayan villages. On 9-11-01

Noreen was diagnosed with cancer and told by doctors that she had 3 months to live. But, Noreen felt she was still needed in Guatemala, and before she died, she wanted to leave a legacy by building a rural primary school. January 2005, we celebrated the grand opening of School of Miracles #1, named after the miracle that extended her life 4 years, instead of 3 months. To carry on Noreen's legacy, Penny founded Miracles in Action, a 501(c)(3) charity. Now others can support their mission to "Provide Guatemalans living in extreme poverty with opportunities to help themselves through educational, vocational, and other sustainable development projects."

How can I help?

Gift a backpack full of school supplies, including a small toy for your sponsored child.
